PRESS RELEASE

February 13, 2015

With the retirement of Police Chief Jim Hunter in January, the City of Klamath Falls has been recruiting a new police chief. The City received 44 resumes and selected 5 candidates as finalists. The finalist interviews included input from public citizens, City Council members, employees, and other governmental agencies.

After carefully considering all the input and the candidate's qualifications, the City Manager offered the position to Corvallis Police Captain David Henslee and he accepted the position. The offer is subject to our normal process, which should be complete in early March. Barring any complications, we expect Mr. Henslee to be at work for the City on March 30th.

Mr. Henslee has worked in law enforcement since 1993, all with the City of Corvallis. He holds a Bachelor Degree from Oregon State and is a graduate of the FBI National Academy. We are excited to have him join the City of Klamath Falls and look forward to great things in the future.

The City wants to thank all of those who participated in the process and provided input.
